UUs in the News

Kerry Dineen had a letter published in the Saturday, October 11, issue of The Indianapolis Star on page A11. Kerry clarifies the Barack Obama tax plan, which she feels has been incorrectly described by McCain/Palin and a letter writer to the Star as a tax increase. Kerry notes that no family making less than $250,000 will see a tax increase.

Bill Watts is pictured and quoted in a feature in the Wednesday, October 15, issue of The Indianapolis Star on page A1. Bill's bicycle accident in April, in which he was hit when an SUV turned right on a red light, might not have happened if Indianapolis had specially designated lanes for cyclists. Even though Mayor Greg Ballard is supportive of creating bicycle lanes, big money is needed. Ever the devout cyclist, Bill resumed his five-mile commute to his job as an English professor at Butler University six weeks after the accident. Bill supports bicycle lanes: "Our mentality has to change," he said.
Editor's note: Madison, Wisconsin, has plenty of these bicycle lanes and they are used regularly. Think about all those people who are riding bikes and not wasting gasoline for short trips.

Jon Laramore was mentioned in the Sunday, October 19, issue of The Indianapolis Star on page D2. Jon, an attorney with Baker & Daniels, received a Presidential Citation from the Indiana State Bar Association.

Noah Droddy was mentioned in the Sunday, October 19, issue of The Indianapolis Star on page C13. Noah runs cross country for the International School and he placed 10th in the regional tournament. He now qualifies for the semi-state next week. The top 15 runners from each region qualify.

Emma Rose Socey, who will turn 7 on November 5, has been heard on WFYI supporting the membership drive.
